

Importance of student clubs:

The organization plans a variety of events each year. Student clubs offer a forum for communication between members and with external activities. They have the power to ignite young people's passion and aid in the development of their organizational abilities. The clubs guarantee the holistic development of students by offering a healthy mix of work, play, and leisure activities.

The student groups that were established for the 2019–2020 academic year are listed below.
